Me again, well after doing a little digging I see waste connections has at some point acquired cascade disposal and now it seems they are looking to line their pockets providing a service that is useless to most of us in rural communities.

I'll give you a thousand dollars if you can fit ALL my yard debris for one year in one of your cans every week/semi weekly, and as I understand this cost is bundled with our garbage pick up.

You know this is why people are turning on government and big business.

Your stealing our money to build small empires and you know that tying everything together makes it mandatory.

Shaking my head.
